

Train-the-Trainer Seminar

Curriculum Overview

- completely customizable to Client needs

Timing

Full day class: 400 minutes of learning (assuming 60 minutes for lunch and 2 x 10 minute breaks)

Core Objectives

- Participants will understand instructional techniques to help effectively deliver engaging training.
- Participants will be able to communicate the definition of learning and development and distinguish the different types of learning. They will be able to describe and apply adult-learning principles.
- Participants will be able to express why attendees need to be actively involved during training. They will be able to identify the important roles and tasks before, during and after delivery. They will recall the guidelines of training management and identify how to respond to various group dynamics. The participants will be able to compare and contrast the differences and benefits in room layouts. They will be able to assess and determine the best visuals aids and tools for their upcoming course delivery.
- Participants will evaluate effective and ineffective training exercises. They will also evaluate the benefits of using pre and post-work resources.
- Participants will explore the attributes of a variety of training evaluation models and identify the purpose and benefits of seminar evaluation.
- Participants will practice the day's learning by delivering a 10-minute assigned section to the other trainees. They will each provide their own feedback on their performance and then the facilitator will gather feedback from the observing participants.
